

January 2012

Greetings from Manila! To kick-start the year off, we thought we would give you a snapshot of things happening in our ministry right now....

- Marc is studying the Tagalog language daily and is making progress!
- Marc is teaching Baptist Church History for the next few weeks at BBCA.
- Jessi will be teaching all BBCA freshman a "student orientation" course starting next block.
- We are praying about a church plant location, and now have some specific areas in mind. No announcements just yet, but God seems to be opening some doors!
- The board of BBCA has recently approved our vision of the formation of a school for cross-cultural missionaries studying here in Manila. More on this to come!
- Honest Deceiver Ministries continues to grow, and we are anticipating many people trusting Christ this year as a result! Visit honestdeceiver.com for updates!

We could not pursue these goals without your support. Thank you for praying and giving! You are changing lives!

Marc, Jessi, & Reece

p.s. - we hope you like the new feature for this year, "photo of the month"

Photo of the Month

Reece practicing for his Honest Deceiver Ministries audition....